

NEW ARCADIAN PRESS

30 Years of the New Arcadian Journal, 1981-2011

17 January - 19 March 2011

The Stanley & Audrey Burton Gallery

Education Room display

(from Special Collections, Brotherton Library)

Parkinson Building, University of Leeds

Monday - Saturday, 10 am - 5 pm

The limited edition, Leeds-based New Arcadian Journal is a unique, fine press publication that combines art and scholarship with unfussy design. By championing the study of political gardening, and by promoting restoration of place and meaning, the New Arcadian Journal has shed new light on historical landscapes as well as contemporary artists' gardens (especially Ian Hamilton Finlay's Little Sparta outside Edinburgh).

ILLUSTRATED TALK: 'The NAJ at 30'. Thursday 17 February 2011. Drinks, 6 pm; Talk, 6.30 pm. Dr Patrick Eyres (editor-publisher) will highlight the achievements - followed by an informal conversation with the artists: Catherine Aldred, Chris Broughton, Howard Eaglestone, Andrew Naylor.

Talk organised by the Friends of University Art and Music.

£6 for FUAM members and their guests, £8 for non-members; free for those joining FUAM on the day. Any profit goes to the FUAM charity to buy artworks/fund concerts at the University. For further information please call 0113 343 2584 or e-mail <concerts@leeds.ac.uk> quoting FUAM.